The Fort La Bosse School Division will reimburse students for the cost of courses taken through a distance delivery model provided:

- The student is a resident of the Division.
- The student is attending a Division school.
- The school does not offer the course, or timetable conflicts, which the school is responsible for, do not permit the course to be taken.
- The School Principal, or designate, has approved registration in the distance delivery course.
- The student has successfully completed the course while still enrolled in a Division school.

The school in which the student is registered will provide the student with any required textbooks.

The School Principal, or designate, will submit the request for reimbursement together with necessary documentation to the Division Office (see IHC-E 1).

Notwithstanding the above criteria, the Division may support student-initiated requests for distance delivery programs. In these circumstance credit approval and financial support would be subject to the Principal's authorisation following consultation with the Superintendent.
