Last Reviewed - 10/06/19

A Division school may pilot a new curriculum project with the authorization of the Board and Manitoba Education.

Teachers may develop courses for use within the classrooms of their own schools. These courses should respond to recognized local student needs. Responsibility for the quality and appropriateness of such a course rests with teachers, principals, the Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment Consultant, the Coordinator of Student Services, the Superintendent and/or Board.

A detailed course plan for each newly developed course must be filed with Manitoba Education.

In order to continue, a pilot project will be subject to a period of probation and a favourable end evaluation.
